
LARRY WATSON AND ALFRED ALMOND are shown with a tombstone found on Watson's property, the old Patterson estate. The stone, marked "NP" and dated July 11, 1851, probably marked the grave of one of the Patterson family, according to Watson. Watson notes that there is much of historical significance in the area of his home, including pits dug beneath his house during the Civil War for Confederate soldiers to hide in during the advance of Union Troops.

Justus sees break-even season for young Raiders

"Right now, we're shooting for a break-even season." That's how Coach Stuart Justus sums up his feelings about prospects for the Appomattox Raider varsity football team this year.

The team is a young one, comprised mainly of sophomores with a small nucleus of seniors around which Justus and his coaches will attempt to build a successful football squad.

"Right now, it's a matter of getting our young group together with what few seniors we have," the coach says.

The Raiders will face off Friday night against a powerful Gretna team, which the Raiders defeated 27-0 last year.

"I'd say Gretna's got a better chance this year to beat us than they have in the last few years," Justus says. "They're big on defense, and they have some big offensive backs, but I don't think they're as quick as some of the teams we'll face."

Justus notes that the Raiders showed some timing problems in the football jamboree held in Appomattox last Friday. "The offensive line was not getting off the ball quick enough, and we were having some problems getting the backs to hit the holes. "The coach added, however, that the defense looked good, and no teams scored on the first-string defense during the jamboree.

As of press time Tuesday, many slots on the starting offensive and defensive teams were still up for grabs.

Justus says there are several players who will rotate in the offensive backfield. Mark Kelso, a junior, will probably alternate with Pete Melvor, Ron Carter, Rod Bryant, Dennis Fleshman, Allen Edmonds and Norman Turner in the running-back slots.

Justus says Kevin Ferguson, a sophomore, will be the starting quarterback.

Three seniors will form the nucleus of the offensive line, according to Justus. Ernest Daye at end, Neil Cole at guard, and Kenny Wayne Burks at tackle will be joined by junior Chris Dunnam at center and Roy Trent at tackle.

The right guard position is still up for grabs, according to Justus.

Kevin Mitchell, Robert Wingfield and John Elder will battle it out for the right end position on offense.

Four seniors will comprise the bulk of the starting defensive squad, according to the coach.

On defense, Daye will start at end, joined by sophomore Ricky Carter and senior Robbie Robinson on the line. The other end position will be filled by Jeff Miller, Kevin Mitchell, Mike Rosser or Richard Trent.

Linebackers will be Kenny Wayne Burks, William Scott, and junior Roy Trent.

Mark Kelso will hold down one corner, while Tommy Smith and senior Steve Poole will compete for the other cornerback position.

Kevin Ferguson will fill one defensive-back spot, and the other is still up for grabs, according to Justus.

"The outcome of the season depends on how well the younger players progress," the coach concludes. "If they improve with each game, then we may have better than a break-even season. If they, don't we may not break even."

Friday's game against Gretna will begin at 8 p.m. on the field at Appomattox Middle School.

Milk lowers cholesterol

Milk and dairy foods have long been considered high in cholesterol, but W. Ray Murley, Extension specialist in dairy nutrition at Virginia Tech, reported recent data suggests that milk actually contains a cholesterol-lowering agent.

Various research studies in recent years have shown that whole milk, skim milk, and yogurt have a cholesterol-lowering effect in humans and rats. In one study, cholesterol levels in rats given whole or skim milk were significantly lower than in a group of rats that drank water. (All rats were fed a stock diet.)

The control rats on water gained more weight than did rats drinking whole or skim milk. Livers of the rats on whole milk were a lower percentage of body weight.

Murley said, "Even in diets of adults and the elderly, dairy foods are important sources of calcium. Few other foods regularly consumed provide the same amounts."

Trimyer accepts position in Pastoral Care work

Dr. William Lewis "Bill" Trimyer, pastor of Elon Baptist Church for the past two and a half years, has announced his resignation as pastor of that Pamplin Church.

He has accepted the position of Pastoral Care Coordinator for Burnham City Hospital in Champaign, Ill.

Trimyer, a Portsmouth native, holds degrees from two colleges and two seminaries, including a doctorate from the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond.

He has co-authored a book, "Colors of the Mind," and written numerous articles for periodical publications.

He also writes "The Bible and Daily Living," a column which appears weekly in the Times-Virginian.

He is married to the former Patricia Ferguson of Appomattox. He and his wife have two sons, Brian Lewis, age 6, and Brandon Michael, age 4.
